DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1, 6, 9, 15, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kobayashi (3,733,170) in view of Arai (JP01203064). Kobayashi discloses substantially all of the claimed limitations including, among other things, a burner head having a cylindrical wire mesh cylindrical tube member with support members in and out of the tube, and rings of wire running axially. Kobayashi does not specifically recite the use of wedge wire. Arai teaches a cylindrical tube made of wedge wire in order to provide a fine spray. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the screen arrangement taught by Arai into the invention disclosed by Kobayashi, so as to provide a fine spray.

4. Claims 3-5, 7, 8, and 10-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kobayashi (3,733,170) in view of Arai (JP01203064), and further in view of Nishida (5,387,399). The combination of Kobayashi in view of Arai teaches substantially all of the claimed limitations but does not specifically recite the claimed element orientations. Nishida teaches a screen for a burner (see at least figs. 9a-c) including various element orientations (see at least figs. 2a,3a,7,8,10,11). Nishida teaches that the variations have distinct characteristics and uses depending on the needs of the device (see at least col. 7, line 60, through col. 8, line 42). Accordingly, it would have been obvious at the time of the invention to incorporate the claimed wedge shape and element orientations as made obvious by Nishida into the invention taught by the above combination, so as to provide for the uses and needs of the device.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims, filed January 11, 2007, have been considered but are deemed moot in view of the new grounds for rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
